Tips of Storing Your Personal Belongings in a Phoenix Self Storage

If you the items you are securing are to be stored in a box, ensure the heavy ones are at the bottom while the light ones are at the top. This will protect the lighter ones from damage that could result from the weight exerted.

Moisture can accumulate in items that are stored in one place for long. However, this can be prevented by leaving some space between the boxes with the items. Although the Phoenix Self Storage unit is regularly cleaned, it's always good to take some precautions.

If there are items that you need to access on a regular basis, place them near the entry. This will save your time when you need to access them.

Is it Easy to Identify My Belongings?

Yes, it is possible and easy. You can identify your belongings without opening other people's boxes by properly labeling the boxes that you store in a Phoenix Self Storage unit.
